My name is Dana Sanborn, and I'm from Glendo, Wyoming. I've been married to my husband, Josh, for 22 years, and we have raised three amazing kids ages 21, 18, and 17. My husband is a coal miner, and I keep busy in my job as Emergency Medical Services Division Chief for Banner Health – Platte County, as well as finishing my paramedic training, and keeping track of our kids and their activities.

Alison's Pantry has been a family effort for us for the past 15 years, with everyone involved in unloading the truck, quick inventories, boxing orders, and helping customers with pickups and deliveries. We've enjoyed being part of the Alison's Pantry family over the years, and the wide variety of products offered. We haven't yet found anything we really don't like, and with growing teenagers everything quickly becomes a favorite! One of our favorite go-to meals though, is the Tempura Chicken with Sweet and Sour Sauce, served with Vegetable Fried Rice, Pork and Vegetable Egg Rolls, and Crab Rangoon (see pages 12 & 21). It makes a complete meal that everyone loves. I'm really happy that I discovered Alison's Pantry, and I'm proud to provide a valuable service to our rural community.

"These are so tasty and tender. I love that I can pull them out of the freezer in the morning and leave in fridge to thaw; ready to grill up perfectly for dinner. They pair nicely with the UpSides Exotic Grains & Fire-Roasted Vegetables (#1690). You can use that as a side or slice the steak and have them together for a healthy lunch bowl."

- 1 C. BBF Coconut Aminos (#3503) or soy sauce

- 3 tsp minced garlic (#1289)
- 4 salmon fillets (#2239), thawed (about 1 1/2 pounds)

Whisk coconut aminos, Mike's Hot Honey, lemon juice, ginger, and garlic together until honey dissolves. Place salmon fillets, skin-side up, in marinade. Founded in 1906, the Lehi Roller Mills started as a coalition of farmers milling their wheat together. George G. Robinson purchased the new mills in 1910, having learned milling from his father back in Delaware.

The Robinson family used wheat from farmers in the surrounding area, converting that wheat into flour. Because of the agriculture focus of the region, the roller mills became a crucial part of the flour production industry. As the farming expanded, so did the mills.

The city of Lehi has grown around the roller mills. Most notably, the mills brought fame to Lehi when they were featured in the 1984 movie "Footloose," starring Kevin Bacon. The round silos painted with images from flour sacks became an icon of Lehi. Though the movie did not substantially increase business, tourists and movie buffs still visit for photos decades later. Locals were excited to see a part of small town Lehi, Utah represented in a major motion picture. Because of the significance they have had in Lehi's history, the roller mills were officially added to the National Register of Historic Places in 1994.

As Sherm Robinson, George's grandson who is currently at the helm of Lehi Mills, said in an interview with the Deseret News,

"I feel it's important for the community, and for my family, that we're still here. For me, it's personal. The mill, it has kind of a spirit to it, if you will. Kind of a glow. If you drive past around sunset, you can actually see it."

Excerpted from Intermountain Histories: The Lehi Roller Mills by Adam Weiss.
